

AFRICAN WILDLIFE FOUNDATION®

EDITORIAL INTERN (MARKETING AND COMMUNICATION)

This internship provides a unique opportunity to meaningfully contribute to AWF's marketing strategy for its conservation efforts in sub-Saharan Africa.

DUTIES

Working under the supervision of the Publications and Marketing Manager, the intern shall research content and story ideas for AWF electronic and print publications, contribute to editorial content for online communications channels such as blogs, Facebook, and Twitter, assist in identifying, creating, and securing editorial content for AWF's website, assist with the production of communications products, including copy editing and proofreading and liaise with printers and designers. The intern will also offer day to day administrative support to the Marketing and Communications team.

This opportunity also offers hands on experience for students or graduates interested in marketing and communications in nonprofits while contributing to AWF's conservation efforts. AWF is willing to provide necessary documentation to enable the intern academic credit if possible through his/her university.

OVERVIEW OF AWF

For more than 50 years, the African Wildlife Foundation (AWF) has been a key player in African conservation and sustainable development. Currently, AWF is seeking an enthusiastic, goal-oriented, self-driven intern to support AWF's online and print products.

www.awf.org/section/about/jobs

LOCATION

Washington, DC
(DuPont Circle)

SUPERVISOR

Pub. & Marketing Mgr.

COMPENSATION

$400 per month

REQUIREMENTS

Excellent Writing
Attention to Detail
Interest in Nonprofits
Current MS Student
Superb English
French Preferred
Cultural Sensitivity
Team Player
Passion for Conservation

TO APPLY

Interested candidates should email a cover letter and CV to: intern@awf.org with the subject "EDITORIAL"

Be sure your cover letter creates a clear linkage between your background, Africa, and AWF's mission.